

Bisno's conclusions Very, very wrong

I just read [Donna Little-john's] article in More [March 4] and was so upset with some of the conclusions Mr. [Bob] Bisno has made.

He said, "opposition does not run deep but it does run loud." He is very, very wrong. Opposition runs very deep. I have Mends that live off of Western Avenue and they have to use Western no matter where they go. It is the only way in or out of their area. Western is busy no matter what time of day and especially at school hours and working hours. Ibis is now. What will it be when this project is completed?

Why would he poll Lomita, and Harbor City residents? They do not live with the daily traffic on Western. I have friends over there but they do not come into San Pedro that often. The only ones that should be contacted are the ones that live around this area and use Western daily.

How come the condos where the old racquet club was were up before anyone knew about them? Now there are hundreds of them. What is that going to do about the traffic? I was recently coming out of Green Hills where there had been two funerals. It took me awhile to get out of the memorial park [because] the traffic was blocked both ways.

I live down in San Pedro and I cannot understand how anyone could think San Pedro needs more housing. There are condos going up on all over town, not to mention those down below Pacific [Avenue].

There are also For Rent and For Sale signs everywhere.

They keep talking about affordable housing, but I do not consider $300,000 and up really affordable.
