

Ponte Vista: strain on utilities?

All I ever hear or read about in regard to the Ponte Vista development is traffic on Western Avenue. That only occurs for a couple of hours morning and evening weekdays. There has not been any mention of the utilities, yet we are constantly reminded of possible rotating blackouts and to conserve water.

What are the developers doing to relieve these constraints? I don't think these items even enter the minds of the city councils and planning commissions that approve these huge developments. No development should be approved without full consideration of these items.
